at Caracas.

Caracas, Venezuela, Nov. 10.—President Castro made a triumphal official entry into Caracas yesterday at the head of 3,200 troops, amidst the ringing of bells and a display of fireworks. President Castro reached Los Teques from La Victoria Saturday without having encountered any revolutionists on the way there, and left Los Teques Sunday for Caracas by train over the German rallway, the bridges along the line which had been destroyed by the revolutionists having been repaired.

The flight of the armies of the revolution continues. Not even the Caracas revolutionary committee can explain the cause of the split among the leaders of the movement or say what has become of the 10,000 soldiers who were under arms as late as Nov. 2. The government officials believe General Matos has gone in the direction of Tucacas, a seaport on the Caribbean sea twenty-five miles from Puerto Co.

CROSS COUNTED OUT.

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 10.—W. M. Cross, the Democratic candidate for delegate to congress from Oklahoma, today commenced his fight to contest the election of B. S. McGuire. His attorneys have brought mandamus proceedings against the election commissioners of Comanche county to compel them to count several hundred alleged mutilated ballots, which if counted, Cross claims, will result in giving him a majority of 111 over McGuire. The ballots in question, it is alleged, were each voted twice for Cross, the circle being stamped opposite his name on both the Populist and Democratic tickets.

Referring to the statement made by Mr. Black that Cornish did not attend the funeral of Mrs. Adams and dare not face the dead woman, Mr. Osborne read from the minutes to show that Cornish visited the flat before Mrs. Adams' body was removed, and that ex-Governor Black had refused to let him tell on the witness stand why he was absent from the funeral. Counsel contradicted ex-Governor Black's contention that Cornish was shauming sick, and read the evidence of the doctors who attended Cornish in the Knickerbocker Athletic club, who said they found him suffering from an irritant poisoning. The insinuation that a motive for the murder of Mrs. Adams could be found in Cornish's feelings for Mrs. Rogers, the prosecuting attorney said, was not worthy of consideration. All the evidence, he said, showed that Mrs. Adams and Cornish were on the best of terms, and he added that there was nothing against Mrs. Rogers' character except the insinuations of the defendant's lawyers.

He knew Mrs., Adams was subject to headaches, and twelve hours after the bromo reached the flat Mrs. Adams had taken it. She was gone. Mr. Black argued from the testimony of the abenical experts who apalyzed.

CONTROL URGED

Wireless Telegraph Stations to Be Established.

CONCLUDING PORTION OF ADMI-RAL BRADFORD'S REPORT.

W ASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Government control of all ment control of all wireless telegraph stations along the coast of the United States is recommended by Rear Admiral R. B. Bradford, chief of the bureau of equipment, in his annual report, in the concluding portion, which was issued today. Foreign governments, it is pointed out, are exercising careful supervision over the location of wireless stations within their waters, thus insuring prompt transmiswaters, thus insuring prompt transmission of messages at all times. Admiral Bradford says it is proposed to establish wireless telegraph stations for the purpose of instructing officers and men at Newport, New York, San Francisco and probably other naval stations. In order to ascertain the effect of heat, which is said to be injurious to the successful working of wireless apparatus, a station will be established at Key West, Fla.

Although other naval powers are far

Although other naval powers are far Although other naval powers are far in advance of the United States in the installation of wireless telegraph appliances on board naval ships, Rear Admiral Bradford does not think any ground has been lost by the United States in pursuing a conservative policy in the adoption of some particular system for use in the navy.

Four Systems Developed.

Four Systems Developed.

Many vessels are now ready for the installation of wireless apparatus and others are being prepared. No satisfactory results have yet been obtained by the board of officers in charge of the tests of the various systems, and it is proposed to purchase other instruments for trial before a selection is made. Four systems of wireless telegraph have been developed in Europe which seem promising. The bureau has purchased two sets of each and certain appliances from the makers which appeared promising. Attention is called to the opportunity for officers of studying wireless telegraphy, only three having been engaged in this work thus far. In foreign navies commissions of distinguished officers are engaged solely in this service. gaged solely in this service

Trans-Pacific Cable.

In regard to the construction of the trans-Pacific cable, Rear Admiral Bradford reports that so far as he is aware the Commercial Pacific Cable company has signified no intention of following the government requirement for building a cable as specified by the president. The report says that, although the officers of the company appeared anxious before the adjournment of congress to obtain the Pacific ment of congress to obtain the Pacific

Coal Depots.

In sixty-one foreign ports agreements have been made to supply ships of the navy with coal at below current rates. Admiral Bradford says that, owing to the lack of naval coal depots, the fleet narrowly escaped being left without coal last summer as a result of the strike. He adds:

Two Years' Work Lost.

It was 11 o'clock before the flames had devoured everything combustible, leaving only the steel tower and the four great 18½-inch steel cables stretching across the river. These cables were recently completed, save for the steel sheathing, and it is feared that they have been badly damaged by the intense heat. Should it be necessary to replace them, the labor of two years would be lost.

Chief Engineer Martin, in charge of the bridge construction, said today enormous neight of the tower it was impossible to reach the fire with any apparatus in the fire department, and the flames, after devouring all the woodwork on the top of the tower, seized on the timber false work of the two foot bridges suspended from the main cables have the sure two foot bridges suspended from the main cables, burning away the supports. Nearly 1,000,000 feet of blazing lumber fell with a crash and a hiss into the stream. Chief Engineer Martin, in charge of the bridge construction, said today that four steel saddles, weighing thirty-four tons, on the top of the tower, were redhot, but were not damaged. Of the four cables recting upon the saddles two, he thought, would have to be partially replaced by splicing. This will involve a delay of at least four months. The remaining cables suffered little injury. The loss on the two foot bridges is estimated at $100,000. Started in Tool Shed.

The fire started in a tool shed, and from this it spread to the framework. Within five minutes after the discovery of the fire the whole top of the tower was in a blaze. Then the foot toridges fell, carrying with them many tons of bolts, rivets, nuts and tools. At that moment the Brooklyn fire boat was just below the bridge, and a heavy beam fell on her, breaking her rudder and sending her drifting down the stream.
